Andrew W. Mellon May Go On Stand In Federal Tax Case Against Him

WASHINGTON — Andrew W. Mellon appears headed for another star performance before the Washington footlights.

Not that the multi-millionaire Pittsburgher is seeking, or will relish, the prospective role. Far from it.

But he may have to "do his stuff" in order to save himself several million dollars that the Treasury Department is seeking to collect from him in back taxes and penalties for alleged tax dodging.

The case, now pending before the Board of Tax Appeals, will come to trial within a few weeks. It will be an open proceeding; and if the Government's plans are successful the one-time, all-powerful head of the Treasury will be placed in the witness dock and subjected to questioning and cross-examination.

An interesting side-light on the trial is the fact that fourteen of the sixteen members of the Tax Appeals Board are Republican appointees, a number of them obtaining their jobs while "Uncle Andy" ruled the Treasury and dominated all appointments pertaining to revenue and taxes.

Never Say No

One of the age-old traditions of politics is never say "No" to any request.

Louis McHenry Howe, the President's super-political adviser, has learned, however, that the rule works two ways. It's equally unwise to say "No" to any offer.

When the time arrived for the White House staff to return to its renovated executive offices, Public Works Administrator Harold Ickes' art outfit asked Howe whether he wouldn't like to have some PWA relief paintings for his new sanctum.

Without investigating the matter too carefully, Howe reviewed in his mind what he had seen of Government art in the past. The outstanding examples were a series of steel engravings of past Presidents struck off by the Bureau of Engraving. The plates were engraved by the Government's expert designers as practice for engraving postage stamps to fill the empty days before Postmaster Jim Farley began his periodic spasms of new stamp issues.

Howe shuddered at the thought and rejected the offer.

But when the rest of the executive offices got to the stage of interior decorating, Howe found to his amazement that they had beautiful oil portraits, landscapes, water-color street scenes, pastel industrial pictures.

"Where," he grumbled, "did all this come from? Why haven't I got some for my office?"

And, to his dismay, he learned that these were selections from PWA Art Relief which he had turned down.

With a rush he put in a call for some for himself, but, alas! it was too late. The best he could do was to beg a few extra ship prints from the President's private collection.

ACTION STOPS SALE OF FOUR CANNING FIRMS

Mrs. Crites Files Action Against Crites, Inc., in Local Court

CHARGES ARE FILED

Claims Deeds to Land Gained by Fraud

Sale of four canning companies in New Holland, Ashville, Jeffersonville and Chrisman, Ill. by Crites, Inc. was restrained upon order of Judge J. W. Adkins today after Mrs. May R. Crites, wife of H. M. Crites, S. Court-st., filed action in common pleas court. Defendants in the action at Crites, Inc., the Continental Canning Co., the Huntington National Bank, Columbus, and the First National Bank of St. Louis.

The canning companies were offered for sale in a Columbus newspaper last week. Mrs. Crites brought suit through her attorneys, Richard Simkins and Smith W. Bennett, in which she alleges Crites, Inc., is not a firm doing business but was formed by the Continental Canning Co., the Huntington bank, and the First National, creditors of Mr. Crites, for their mutual advantage.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY

In her petition which follows one filed quite a while ago in federal court, Mrs. Crites asks that conveyances of land deeded by her to the three firms be set aside and that an accounting of damages be made. She charges the three firms with conspiracy and collusion in forcing her to deed over property under threat of arrest.

The lengthy petition asserts that Crites, Inc. sold lands and elevators which had been deeded over for less than their actual value. She lists down rights to which she claims she is entitled at $100,000.

The federal court suit was filed in an effort to determine jurisdiction for the proceeding.

NRA ACTION IN SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The first direct test of the right of the federal government, through NRA codes, to regulate wages and hours of labor, reached the Supreme court today.

The department of justice will make its formal motion for review early in January.

The case arose when William Elbert Belcher was charged with violating NRA and the lumber code by working men more than 40 hours a week and failing to pay prescribed wages.

"Hallelujah, I'm A Bum," Used As Funeral Requiem

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—His requiem having been "Hallelujah, I'm A Bum," sung by a chorus of self-appointed bartenders and mourners, Harry Batter went to his final resting place today at Waldheim cemetery.

At his dying request the bizarre funeral ceremony was held in a chapel over the remains of Batter, long-haired radical, hobo and soap box orator. One of Batter's insurance policies paid for the celebration.

Glasses and bottles clinked about the casket and the "mourners" cheered to the shouted toast last night of: "Here's to Batter, dead or alive."

Dr. Ben Reitman, president of the Chicago Hobo college, acted as master of ceremonies. Volunteer bartenders administered to the noisy shouts of the thirsty. Somebody suggested reading the "Hobo's Prayer," but instead the assemblage toasted Batter as "a sponger, and a good for nothing devil, but good at heart."

JAPS DISCARD NAVY TREATY; U. S. ANGERED

Action Considered Blow to Continued Arms Reduction

IS NOT SURPRISE

Naval Race Now Seen As Certainty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—By deciding to carry out its threat to denounce the Washington naval treaty despite last minute Anglo-American appeals, Japan has delivered the greatest blow ever dealt the cause of naval disarmament.

Such was the view held in authoritative quarters here today following receipt of word from Tokyo that the Japanese privy council had approved denunciation of the treaty.

Officials recalled the recent warning of American Ambassador Norman H. Davis at London that denunciation of the treaty by Japan would open the way for unrestricted naval competition among the world powers, create international suspicion and threaten the future peace of the world.

UNDO BENEFITS

Although Japan's action did not come as a surprise, fresh dissatisfaction nevertheless was manifested by officials, who deplored the fact that the privy council had been led by the militarists to take a step regarded here as threatening to undo all the accomplishments reached at the Washington conference in 1922.

Limiting the size and number of battleships and aircraft carriers and establishing the now famous 5-5-3 ratio—that is, five ships for the United States and Great Britain to three for Japan, the treaty is held by this government to be the most forward step ever taken in the cause of naval disarmament.

CROPS SMALLEST IN MANY YEARS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Due chiefly to the drought and to measures taken to control production, the acreage in crops harvested this year, estimated at 288,608,000 acres, excluding fruits, was 40,500,000 acres below last year, and probably the lowest total acreage harvested in more than 30 years, the crop reporting board had said today.

The estimates for some of the crops are so unusual it is difficult to make comparisons, it said. The total corn crop as harvested for all purposes was estimated at 1,381,000,000, the smallest since 1881. Nevertheless the corn crop was valued approximately at $165,000,000 more than last year's crop.

HUNT BEACH FOR WOMAN

Wife of Wealthy Chicago Manufacturer Missing; May Be Drowned.

CARMEL, Cal., Dec. 19.—Barefoot prints on an isolated beach here were believed by searching parties today to indicate that Mrs. Eliot Boke Schaffner, wife of a wealthy Chicago clothing manufacturer, had met her death in the ocean surf.

Mrs. Schaffner disappeared from her Carmel home early yesterday morning. She had been ill and under the care of a nurse. Servants said she had appeared "depressed and tired."

She was dressed only in a fur coat over her night clothing, and a pair of bedroom slippers, when she vanished. Searching parties that combed the rugged hills of the Carmel peninsula throughout the night came upon prints of bare feet leading to and from the ocean, on an unfrequented beach.

OTTO'S TRIAL NEARS CLOSE

Judge Overrules Motion For Dismissal of Charges Today.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—A verdict in the trial of Walter E. Otto, Columbus city treasurer charged with embezzlement of $979, was expected here today after Common Pleas Judge Henry L. Scarlett overruled a defense motion for acquittal and ordered attorneys for both sides to conclude their final arguments.

It was believed that the arguments would be completed by the noon recess, with the jury to get the case later in the afternoon. The motion for dismissal of the charges against Otto was made yesterday with dramatic suddenness by defense attorneys who closed their case after calling only a few character witnesses.

In their plea for dismissal of the charges, attorneys declared that the state had offered no evidence to prove embezzlement by Otto in the alleged falsification of expense account vouchers for "official" city trips which investigators declared were never made.

Defense counsel also contended in their arguments that the wrong indictment had been returned by the grand jury which first heard the Otto case, and that the city treasurer, who had held the post for 13 years, could be charged only with obtaining money under false pretenses if the falsification charges were found true.

Otto, contrary to original defense plans, did not take the stand in his own behalf.

December D.A.R. Meeting Well Attended; Mrs. Blosser Speaker

Despite holiday preparations quite a number of members of the Pickaway Plains chapter Daughters of the American Revolution were in attendance for the chapter's December meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Mack, S. Washington-st.

Members assisting Mrs. Mack in entertaining were Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson, Mrs. H. M. Crites, Mrs. Harley Colwell, Mrs. Ned Bell and Mrs. Thomas Sweeney.

Mrs. Peter J. Blosser and Miss Edna McKenzie of Nathaniel Massie chapter at Chillicothe and Mrs. Arthur Dunlap of Mt. Sterling chapter were guests at the session.

Mrs. Harry J. Dunlap, regent, read Christmas messages from Mrs. Asa Messenger, state regent, and Mrs. Russell W. Magna, president general.

Mrs. C. C. Watts, chaplain, offered prayer and following the opening exercises, Mrs. Charles Gerhardt gave the recording secretary's report. Mrs. William Mack gave her financial report as treasurer also one on work done to sponsor better films in the movies.

The chapter voted to recommend the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, and plans were begun for a card party to be held Jan. 24 when neighboring D. A. R. chapters will be invited.

Christmas music was featured in the program. Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker and Mrs. James Moffitt sang a duet, "I've Waited for the Lord." Miss Abbe M. Clarke accompanied during the rendition of this number and also for the Christmas carols sung. Mrs. Hunsicker was chairman of the music for the day.

Mrs. Peter J. Blosser, the speaker, chose as her subject "Old Ross-co." The early days of Ross-co. when mound builders were the earliest dwellers in the fertile Scioto Valley, followed by later years when the Indian tribes inhabited these same places were first described. Westfall and Old Town or Frankfort were old settlements in that territory. In 1764 an expedition was made to that part of the country. Daniel Boone in 1778 and Boone and Kenton in 1787 made trips into Ohio attacking Old Town. They are supposed to have camped one night in Bainbridge Caves.

Nathaniel Massie in 1795 started with three companies for the Scioto Valley. In 1796 on April 1 he supervised the building of cabins and the planting of three hundred acres laying out Chillicothe, which name means town. Other surrounding towns were also formed.

Mrs. Blosser told of the early political history surrounding Chillicothe when St. Clair, Edward Tiffin, Duncan McArthur

Just Among Us Girls

A lovers serenade used to consist of guitar music and a song at her window - now it's the harsh HONK of his motor horn at her front gate!

and William Allan were important statesmen. Tiffin was governor when Ohio in 1803 became a state. Chillicothe as the first capital of Ohio, has furnished the scenery for the seal, and many early pioneers who played a prominent part in history.

Mrs. Blosser's address was inspired by her intense interest in all pertaining to her native community. In conclusion she mentioned Ross-co's part in Ohio's militia. There are one hundred and fifty graves of soldiers of 1812 and many revolutionary soldiers graves in that region. Camps have been located near Chillicothe in the following wars—1812, Civil, Spanish and World War.

Chillicothe was the birthplace of Lucy Webb Hayes, the wife of one of our nation's presidents and still boasts of citizens of national and international fame.

Members of the chapter were delighted with this historical narrative so pleasingly delivered by Mrs. Blosser.

Refreshments carrying out the colors of the season were then served.

A basket was filled to overflowing proportions with gifts which will be distributed to the needy in the city under Miss Charlotte Phelps's supervision.

HOMETOWN BOY HONORED

In selecting Frank Fischer as superintendent of the Circleville city schools to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Superintendent Edwin L. Daley, the board of education not only employed a capable and efficient instructor and executive but honored a home town man as well. Mr. Fischer is a native of Circleville and for many years prior to becoming a member of the faculty of the local schools was prominently identified with educational work. His educational training and experience, both in college and high school work, especially fit him for the position of superintendent. He is popular with the faculty and student body of the city schools, and has a wide acquaintanceship among school patrons.

The board of education was confronted with a tremendous task in naming Supt. Daley's successor. The applicants were all high calibre men, well known in the educational field, and the individual members of the board gave serious thought and consideration to selecting a superintendent from among the number of such worthy applicants. That they acted wisely is evidenced by the many expressions of commendation and congratulation.

FIREMEN DESERVE PRAISE

MEMBERS of the Circleville fire department are playing Santa Claus to the youngsters of the community, and they are getting a lot of enjoyment out of it. Their workshop at the fire department looks very much like Santa Claus headquarters, a veritable fairyland that appeals to old and young alike. For several weeks the firemen have been engaged in repairing and rebuilding toys and making them look like new, and, judging from the large number of toys rehabilitated and the excellent display made, they have not had many idle moments since the public so readily responded to the call.

Those who have visited the fire department have been amazed at the varied assortment of toys assembled, and have been loud in their praise of the efforts of the firemen to make them as good as new. It is remarkable what a little handicraft will accomplish. Local business men have been very generous with paint, brushes and other material, as well as a considerable amount of cash necessary for replacement of broken parts. The result is hundreds and hundreds of toys of every description that will be distributed among the children of needy families of the city for Christmas. The youngsters who will be remembered in this substantial manner are those who probably would not otherwise be given much consideration at this Yuletide season.

The firemen are enthusiastic and happy in their work, and rightly so. They are performing a worthwhile service and should be heartily commended by all thoughtful citizens of the city and community. Their efforts will gladden the hearts of many youngsters on Christmas day.

UNEMPLOYED YOUTH

OF all the emergency relief undertakings of the Federal government the one that has met with the widest approval has been the Civilian Conservation Corps movement. All over the country, wherever these camps are located, may be found corollary proof of the service rendered in land and forest clearance, soil erosion and fire prevention, road and bridge construction and other like work. Most of these projects have afforded immediate benefits and in years to come it is a reasonable expectation that the money expended in reforestation, which has been outstanding, will be returned many fold.

The record of accomplishments lends pertinency to the report of Director Fechner to the president that he could employ on "good construction work" twice the number of young men now in the camps.

A turn of six months in the rugged outdoor life of the CCC would be of incalculable good for many idle and discouraged youths in better equipping them to seek civilian positions. That is backed by the experience of the 110,000 who have withdrawn from the camps to take permanent jobs.

CHAPTER XXXVII

Gwendolyn's father was dissatisfied with the report that his daughter had gone on a shopping trip to New York. She wouldn't have done that, he knew, without asking him for money. He had not yet told Mrs. Hoffmann that Gwen was gone, but he spoke of it when he got home, showing plainly that he was worried.

Mrs. Hoffmann was a placid woman, and used to being left out of her daughter's confidence, but she was devoted to her husband and when he was worried she was unhappy.

"Now don't you go getting upset about Gwen," she said comfortingly. "Gwenie's gone shopping all right. And she didn't ask you for money, Herman, because I gave her what I was going to spend on her Christmas present."

Mr. Hoffmann's anxiety gave way to crossness. "It's not right for her to go out of town without saying a word to you," he declared. "For he was ever a little resentful of his daughter's neglect of her mother. 'I'm going to have a talk with that young lady when she gets back.'"

"Now, now, Herman, she's a grown woman and married. We can't boss her like she was a child."

Mr. Hoffmann clamped his lips together and said nothing more but he was thinking that what he wanted to do to Gwendolyn was to treat her like a child and administer a good old-fashioned spanking. As Howard had said, he was aware of her predilection for wild company.

Two days later he received a letter from her, written on route to Reno. It was a long plea for forgiveness and sympathy. She had, she said, been very unhappy with Howard. Not that he was mean to her or anything, but they just didn't understand each other and couldn't get along. They'd both tried, for the sake of their parents, but it was too miserable to be endured any longer. They weren't making anyone happy, not even themselves. She knew they'd caused everyone a lot of worry, and what was the sense of it? It would be so much nicer to be back with her folks—her own dear Mama and Papa.

And divorce wasn't a disgrace any more—everyone did it. But it was a terrible thing to have to go through it all alone so far away. And wouldn't he write her a nice long letter and make her feel better? She needed some money, too. Darling Mama had given her some but it wasn't enough unless she went without lunches and sodas—and if you drank sodas you didn't want those nasty old drinks people were always offering you—and wasn't it awful to be all by yourself on a train trying to write such sad news to dear old Papa who loved so much?

Only it wasn't sad news after you got used to it because it was going to be so much happiness to a lot of them. And maybe Howard would see what a sad thing it was to lose a wife and he'd be a better man for it. And she'd be a better woman, too, because it made you better to have such sad news after you got used to it.

On and on, and on. And at last, would he see Howard and get him to be nice about it? And please send her some money.

Mr. Hoffmann saw Howard, and that young man's spirits were sufficiently depressed to convince him that Howard felt keenly his wife's desertion of him.

Mr. Hoffmann wanted him to start for Reno at once and bring Gwendolyn home, but Howard finally persuaded him to the belief that if Gwen were making a mistake it was better to allow her to "realize it by her own will," Howard insisted. "If you coax them back they'll run away again. I know a chap whose wife takes her vacations that way. And Gwen's been threatening to go for a long time. It may be just a thrill she's looking for. Let her alone—if she decides she's wrong she'll come back to stay. And that's the only way we can get anywhere."

"But what if she goes through with this—gets a divorce?" Mr. Hoffmann exclaimed.

"We can be married again," Howard assured him. "I've tried to think it out calmly—it was a shock to me—and I want to do as Gwen asks—be reasonable about it. You and Dad don't get our viewpoint. I know that. Dad was wild as a caged tiger. Divorce is new in our family. I know how he feels, and how you feel. But Gwen and I have to see it through as we believe is best. And it isn't as though there were an ugly scandal connected with it. We can all be friends. Maybe it's just what Gwen and I need—a separation. When I first got her letter"—he meant to imply that this was how he had been informed of her move—"I felt as you do that I ought to follow, and beg her to come back. But I'm afraid she doesn't care enough about me to listen and—well, a man wants to be sure of his wife's love, sir. And she has a right to find out her own mind. She knows how I feel. Her happiness as well as mine is at stake. If she loves me she'll come back to me."

"H'm," Mr. Hoffmann ejaculated. "You modern young people weigh out your hearts like cheese. Seems to me you ought to fight for your wife."

"I'm fighting for—love," Howard answered enigmatically. "The two are not always synonymous. I mean, I want a wife who loves me."

"Bosh. Live together long enough and you won't care whether you love each other or not. You're not making a mistake as yourself."

"But in the meantime," Howard said patiently, "we have to take things as they are. And if Gwen deals me spades I can't play hearts."

Mr. Hoffmann stared at him closely. "Well," he said kindly, "take care of yourself. You're not looking so good. Come around and take dinner with me and Mama once in a while. She'll be glad to see you. Give you some good advice, too. And I'll see that Gwen comes to her senses."

"Thanks," Howard returned. "I'm thinking of closing the cottage and going to live with Mother and Dad."

"That's fine," Mr. Hoffmann agreed. "Business for a young man to live alone—might get into trouble."

"Gwen won't be worrying about that," Howard smiled.

"I know, I know, but no need for you to be lonesome. Looks like you haven't slept."

It was true that Howard was slightly haggard looking. He was looking so good. Come around and take dinner with me and Mama once in a while. She'll be glad to see you. Give you some good advice, too. And I'll see that Gwen comes to her senses."

every piece of literature he could find that might be helpful to them. Architects' drawings, books on landscaping, on gardening, on pools, rock gardens, interior decoration—everything he could think of that dealt with the remodeling and developing of a small country home.

Caroline lost herself in the magic pages. They spent hours poring over them, making sketches, modeling the rooms with tiny reproductions of old furniture, matching bits of colored cloth for the selection of their curtains and rugs, figuring spaces and discussing convenience. Caroline loved it, but inwardly Howard felt some slight rebellion over her utter absorption in the subject.

Occasionally he persuaded her to go out with him to some quiet place for a late supper or to a movie, but Caroline preferred to stay at home. She had induced her father to spend more time with her, trying desperately to keep him away from the speakeasies and back rooms where he gambled and drank vilely doctored whiskey.

Philip was afraid of the future—afraid of being left alone. In his first fully sober moment after Alva's death, he had faced the fact that Caroline would leave him in time, to go with Howard. He had begun then to fight back to the right to a place in her life, but at first his attempts had ended in miserable failure.

Caroline was in despair about him, but with only a few months left before she married and must either ask her husband to take a drunken sot into his home or leave her father to go his wretched way, she set herself to force Philip to a realization of his prospects. With her help he made a more gallant effort. Her marriage to Howard no longer met with opposition from him. Gwen's seeking a divorce had changed that. He still did not like Howard but if Caroline loved him, and Philip believed she did, it would be a thousand times better for her to be married to him than going on as she was, he thought.

He began to win against his weakness. His lapses became fewer each succeeding week. His health was shattered, and oftentimes he was disagreeable company, but Caroline was considerate of him, and Howard endured him with outward politeness, partly to please Caroline but largely because he felt it was wisest to refrain from appearing in public with her. To stay in the man's house made it necessary to cover his antagonism, and besides he was personally desirous of having his future father-in-law saved from the gutter.

They managed to have some pleasant times together. Mrs. Stevenson, resigned to her position, made coffee for them when they did not stay out too late and allowed them to raid the icebox if she had retired, without protesting.

Caroline hoped that Howard would suggest having her father with them at the lake. She had talked to Philip about the things he did not see what else there was to do. But Howard had not spoken of it. She knew he was too proud, ever if he should not love her too much, to allow her father to be a reproach to him. But it would give her something to talk about. He had speak of it first that she waited.

At Christmas time she was still waiting, but she forgot her disappointment in doing what she could to make the holiday a cheerful one. Alone she wept over it's being the first Christmas not shared in some way with her mother. There had been many when Alva was abroad or in Florida, but always there had been reminders of her love—gifts, messages, letters, flowers. It was heart-breaking to go through a Yuletide without her, but for Philip's sake she tried to hide her grief.

Poems That Live

"O THAT 'TWERE POSSIBLE"

From "Maude"

O that 'twere possible
After long grief and pain
To find the arms of my true love

Round me once again!

When I was wont to meet her
In the silent moody places
Of the land that gave me birth,
We stood traced in long embraces.

Mixed with kisses sweeter, sweeter
Than anything on earth.

A shadow flits before me,
Not thou, but like to thee,
Ah, Christ, that it were possible
For one short hour to see
The souls we loved, that they Might tell us
What and where they be!

—Alfred Tennyson

"WHEN LOVELY WOMAN STOOPS TO FOLLY"

From "The Vicar of Wakefield"

When lovely woman stoops to folly
And finds too late that men betray—
What charm can soothe her melancholy,
What art can wash her guilt away?

The only art her guilt to cover,
To hide her shame from every eye,
To give repentance to her lover
And wring his bosom is—to die.

—Oliver Goldsmith.

Dinner Stories

A SMALL MATTER

The tourist had just treated an old man who was sitting outside the village inn to a glass of beer.

"They tell me that you're the oldest inhabitant," said the tourist. "What is your age?"

"The village ancient took a good pull of the beer."

"Yes, that's right," he replied. "I'm the oldest in the village—95 next month; and I reckon if it hadn't been for this putting back the clocks I'd have been a centenarian by this time."

"LET'S SEE, WHOM HAVE WE FORGOTTEN?"

Dear Old Santa Claus

By Earle Hooker Eaton

THERE'S lots of folks I'd like to know
Who live in summer rain and snow;
Who dwell as well, in cold and heat,
And on earth's good old Easy Street,
But here's the chap for loud applause,
Our good old friend, dear Santa Claus.

Though men may come and men may go,
Though kings speed fast and then go slow,
There's one who gets here every year,
On time with his old jingle deer,
So hail this chap for loud applause,
Our good old friend, dear Santa Claus.

The world is full of heroes great,
On deck today, then out of date
But where's the child who does not cheer
For one famed Saint to men's dear,
Who does not give her loud applause
For her good friend, old Santa Claus?

Delay Most Dangerous Thing in Appendicitis

It Accounts for the High Mortality in This Disease, Says Dr. Copeland, Telling Why

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

IN FORMER years appendicitis was greatly dreaded. Little was known about the disease and the surgical technique for the removal of a diseased appendix had not been developed. As a result of faulty treatment, the appendix was apt to rupture, peritonitis or some other serious complication caused death. In many cases there was little hope of recovery.

Despite the great advances made in the treatment of appendicitis and the improvement in surgical skill, the disease continues to be a serious menace. It has been estimated that more than twenty thousand individuals died from this infection last year. This is calamitous because many of these deaths could have been prevented had proper measures been taken.

The modern operation for a diseased appendix is simple. In the hands of a competent surgeon appendectomy, or removal of the appendix, can really be classified as a minor operation.

How can we account for the high mortality among the victims of appendicitis? For centuries it

RETAIL SALES TAX DIVISION TO BE LARGE

Could Become Patronage Machine; Dargusch Is Guiding Figure.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Capital observers see in enactment of the new retail sales tax a veiled opportunity for the state tax commission to become one of the most powerful patronage divisions of state government.

Prior to the advent of the sales levy there were 400 employees on the tax commission payroll. Carl S. Dargusch, the tax commission's vice chairman and guiding spirit, estimated his division would require 200 additional employees immediately.

It has been found that when a department head says 200 employees will be needed the number actually employed seldom falls below 300. If the rule holds true in this case, there soon will be 700 names on the tax commission payroll.

WOULD RANK HIGH
Such an increase would rank this branch of government almost in the class with the two most prolific patronage dispensers, the state highway department, with some 5,000 employees, and the state liquor monopoly, with about 1,000.

Ranking officials of the tax commission is the director of finance, now Clarence Burk who will give way to Judge Howard L. Bevis when Gov-elect Martin L. Davey takes office on Jan. 14.

But the connection between the finance director and the tax commission actually is rather tenuous, the commission in most cases doing as it pleases and employing workers without consulting its nominal chief.

Probably because of his greater understanding of taxation matters and because of his closeness to Governor White, young Commissioner Dargusch, the vice chairman, long has outshone his three colleagues, including the chairman, Quincy A. Davis.

It is Dargusch who makes news, seldom Davis, George Braden or A. J. Krause, the other members.

FEW PAY INCOME TAX
Figures from Washington indicate that only 2.79 per cent of Ohio's population pay a federal income tax.

That is interesting in the light of the controversy that raged for months in the legislative halls over a proposed new state taxation system.

As proposed by Governor White, the income tax bill, passage of which the Ohio senate blocked, the same exemptions as under the federal law.

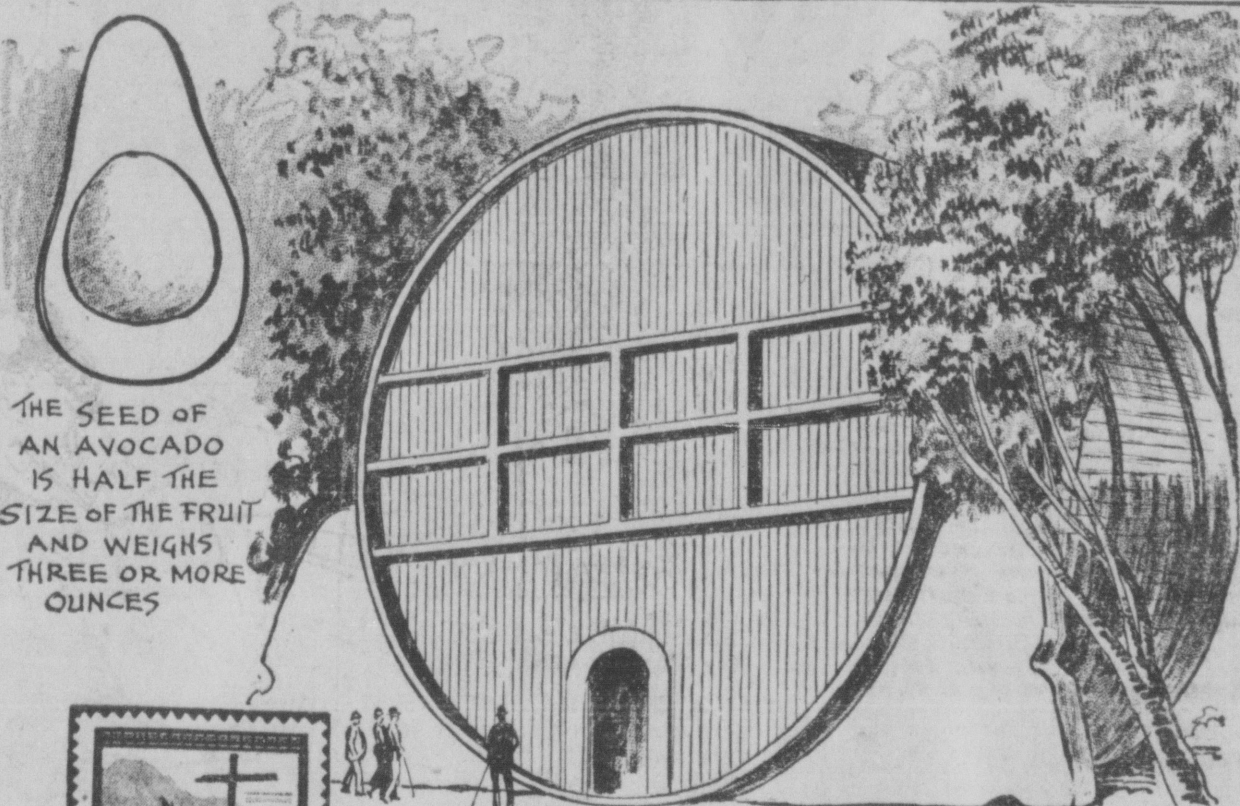

This means that it would have been paid by only 2.79 per cent of the Buckeye state's 6,500,000 inhabitants.

An argument used repeatedly by sales tax advocates was its almost universal application. From the child who buys 10 cents worth of candy to the millionaire who invests in a new yacht, a sales tax will be collected.

THE TRUTH ABOUT HAIR AND HAIR TREATMENTS

You may be one of millions who has wasted time, hope, money on "tonics" and treatments... Now Charles Nessler, inventor of the permanent wave, leading hair scientist, author of "Story of Hair", makes a simple but revolutionary discovery that ends

BALDNESS • DANDRUFF OILINESS • THINNING HAIR
In the past, tonics and treatments tried to stop hair from falling. That is as useless as to try to stop an animal from shedding! What you must do is make your scalp replace the hair that falls—in short, complete the hair growing cycle. It is on that scientific principle that Charles Nessler's Pro-Ker is based. 30,000 tests have proved that Pro-Ker produces results. Hair for hair, it makes the scalp replace falling hair with new hair. Enjoy your birthright—beautiful, lustrous hair. Send for Charles Nessler's revealing booklet. Better still, buy Pro-Ker at your drug-gist, or mail the coupon below.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

HUEY LONG ACTION
An old custom of the south, that of placing a hempen string around one's neck and tossing the other end over a tree, could be put to a splendid advantage today, it seems.

MEDDLING ALL YEAR
Long has been meddling in LSU athletics all season—He first put the team into a spotlight by handing out money to all who wanted to make the trip to Nashville to the Vanderbilt game—He has collected about all of that back.

OUSTED EDITORS
He next aroused the ire of most of the students of the school by attempting to put Abe Mickal, star halfback and not even a resident of Louisiana, in the state senate—He actually had him elected but Mickal snubbed the honorable senator by failing to appear—The campus publication, The Reveille, then took up the battle to end Long's attempt to dominate athletics and everything else in his state—As a result editors of The Reveille were ousted and later suspended from school.

REFUSED PEP TALK
Now comes the crowning act of them all, the squabble which ended in Coach Jones' resignation—It all happened last Saturday when Oregon was beating Louisiana 12-0 in the first half—Long, on the right to be criticized Jones' methods in no uncertain terms with a result that Jones refused to let him give the team a pep talk between halves—Jones himself talked to the players and the result was a 14-13 victory—Announcement of the coach's resignation should show the Kingfish, who is the biggest pain in the neck we know of, that its about time for him to quit trying to be the boss.

YOUNG PRO LEADS PASADENA GOLFERS

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 19.—Willard Hutchison, slender young professional of Santa Barbara, today flashed into the picture in final practice for the Pasadena $4,000 open golf tournament, which starts tomorrow, when he shot a brilliant 67, four strokes under par, and the finest practice round yet recorded.

Willard, always a great shot maker, was playing with Horton Smith of Oak Park, just in from Florida; Sinclair Dean of Los Angeles, and Eddie Loos of Chicago. He scored seven birdies and from first to last was very much on his game.

Not far behind Hutchison in yesterday's practice was smiling Jimmy Hines of New York, with a 69, and Benny Coltrin of San Francisco, and Harold McSpeden of Kansas City, both with 70's.

FOUR RETURN TO O. S. U. CLASSES

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Ohio State's conscientious objectors to the R. O. T. A. plan has returned to Ohio State university with one of the students in the uniform he roomed. The three others have been determined "physically" unable to participate.

BEAR STORIES COMING FROM YOUNG'S CAMP

Team To Lack Polish, Forward Has Twisted Ankle Chillicothe Coach Says.

Coach Earl Young of Chillicothe is producing his annual early season "poor basketball team" dope. Remember last year Mr. Young, who is a splendid coach, spread through the papers of his home town that his team would amount to nothing better than nil. It developed that Chillicothe had a pretty good team.

Young is not quite so pessimistic this year as heretofore but does say that his team which he hopes to be a winner "will lack polish."

Jack Higley has a twisted ankle; he's a forward. He is expected to play against the Tigers, however. The local team travels to the Ross-co seat Friday evening and has a good chance to come through.

TEAM IS LISTED
At the other forward with Higley will be Graves, a co-captain; at center will be Jack Cox and at the guards, Jim Strausbaugh and Johnny Knecht, co-captain.

A scrimmage was held this afternoon with the student body on hand.

BEARCATS WIN

CINCINNATI, Dec. 19.—The Bearcats of the University of Cincinnati, preparing to battle for the Buckeye Conference basketball championship, today marked up a 49 to 18 score after their unexpected rout of Dayton last night.

Displaying unlooked-for power, the Bearcats' fast-breaking offense proved too much for the invading Flyers from the very start of the game. Reserve strength also counted heavily in the Bearcats' win, Coach Tay Brown using his entire roster of 13 men.

RICKEY SELLS BASEBALL STOCK

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 19.—Dividend checks amounting to the round sum of $100,000 were being distributed today to stockholders of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

Announcement was made of the sale of stock held by Branch Rickey, vice president, to C. H. Howard, Jr., of the Kansas City Blues football team. Rickey will remain with the Cardinals.

Breadon said, adding: "He didn't own much stock. I guess he merely was trying to clean up little business details before the first of the year."

WOMAN AWARDED $20,000 DAMAGES

MINEOLA, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Miss Betty Beuschel, former chambermaid, was awarded $20,000 today by a jury in her damage suit against Jacob Manowitz, wealthy Long Beach real estate operator whom she charged attacked her in 1931.

Miss Beuschel alleged Manowitz is the father of her daughter, now almost four years old.

Neither Manowitz nor the plaintiff were in supreme court when the sealed verdict was opened.

Manowitz denied the allegations, claiming that on the day of the alleged assault he was confinied to his quarters with a swollen leg.

Manowitz has been paying for the support of Miss Beuschel's child under a court order which declared him the father.

HANG WOMAN FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

HULL, Eng., Dec. 19.—A black flag rose slowly over the somber walls of Hull prison at 9 o'clock this morning and a small crowd of women outside the gates knelt in prayer.

The first woman to be executed in England since 1926 had been hanged.

She was Mrs. Ethel Lillie Major, 42-year-old grandmother, who was condemned for poisoning her truck-driver husband.

Led by the Lord Mayor of Hull, a fight for a reprieve that was carried direct to King George, and which was continued until the last minute, failed.

DENIED REPRIEVE

All night long Mrs. Major was hysterical, following final word that she would not be granted a reprieve.

This morning, 15 minutes before the time set for the hanging, the two prison chaplains, Canon Arthur Berry and the Rev. W. M. Fraser entered the death cell, where they prayed with the condemned woman until warders entered the cell to take her away.

The white-surplised Rev. Fraser, reciting prayers, led the procession the few steps from the death cell to the execution shed.

Quickly the trembling woman was strapped into a chair, the rope adjusted, and the trap sprung. Everything was over in a few seconds.

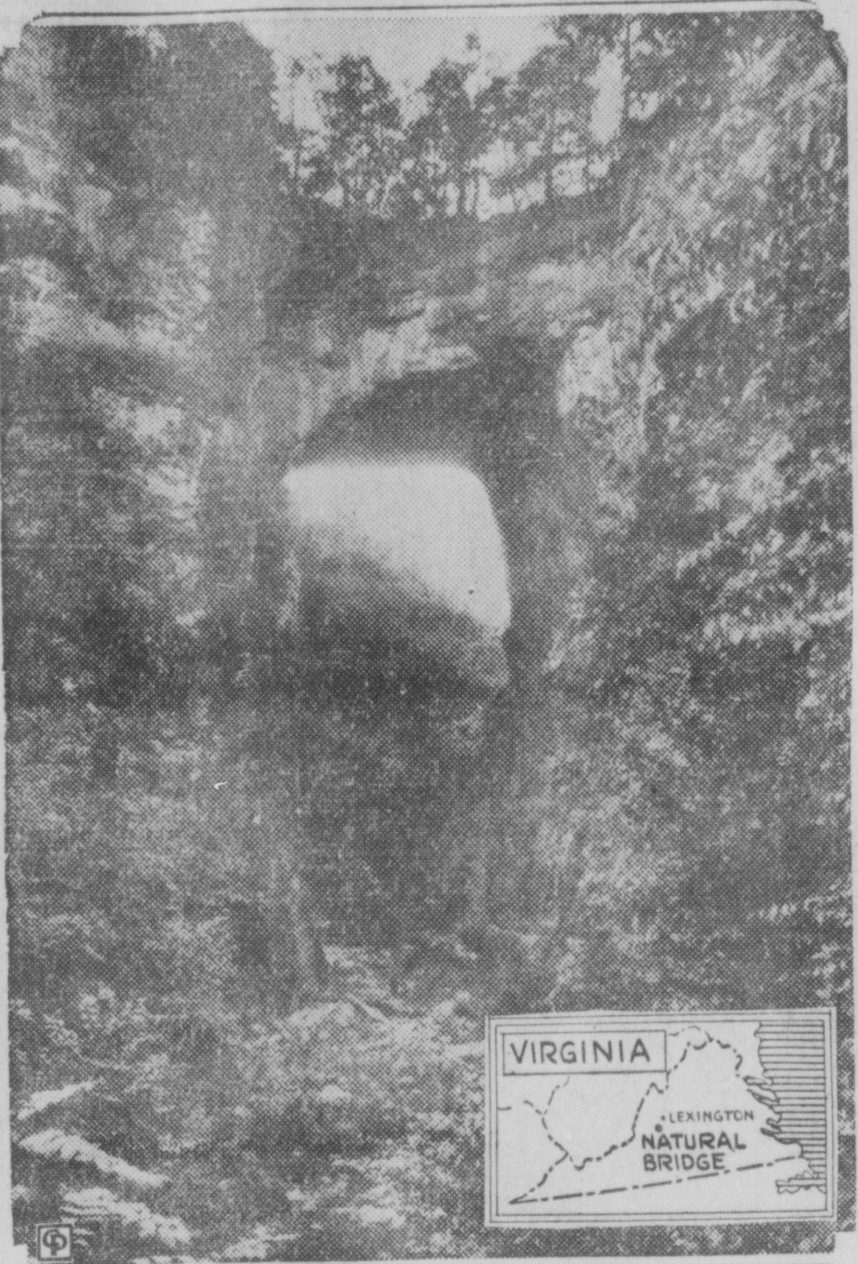

Extra police had been mobilized outside in the expectation that there might be demonstrations, but there were no incidents among the crowd of about 300. Only a handful of officials witnessed the execution.

Mrs. Major went to the scaffold in a semi-conscious condition but fully realizing what was happening. She required only the gentle guidance of wardens.

Her arms pinioned behind her, she mounted the scaffold, her ankles were bound and the trap was sprung. An inquest two hours later to determine whether the execution was "humane and expeditious" revealed death was caused by dislocation of a vertebrae in the neck.

KNOW YOUR WORLD

— Natural Bridge of Virginia —

By Central Press.

BEST KNOWN of a number of natural bridges is that in Rock-bridge-co, Virginia, 16 miles south-east of Lexington. The famous natural structure has a span of 90 feet, is 50 to 100 feet wide and 215 feet above the bed of a stream. A public road passes over it.

An explanation of the formation of the phenomenon is given by the geologist Cleland thus: "The tunnel was formed by water percolating through a joint or fissure athwart the stream, thence along a bedding plane and emptying under a fall or rapid of the stream. The channel thus formed was gradually enlarged until all the water of the stream was diverted from the bed below the point of ingress, leaving a bridge."

NRA EXECUTIVE TAKEN IN NIGHT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, social leader, philanthropist and chairman of the Consumers' Council of the NRA, will be held today at St. Thomas church. Burial will be at Arden, N. Y., tomorrow.

Mrs. Rumsey died during the night at a hospital from injuries received in a fall from a horse Nov. 17. She was riding to the Piedmont hounds at Middleburg, Va.

Although her injuries were considered serious from the beginning, hope for her recovery was held until a few days ago when she suffered a sudden relapse. Her three children have been at the bedside since the accident.

Among her closer friends were Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, with whom she lived in Washington. Both were constant visitors at the hospital.

Mrs. Rumsey was the daughter of the late E. H. Harriman, railway pioneer. She was associated in business with her father for many years. She spurned the leisure offered by great wealth and devoted herself to public service and private philanthropy.

ACTION STOPS SALE OF FOUR CANNING FIRMS

Mrs. Crites Files Action Against Crites, Inc., in Local Court

CHARGES ARE FILED

Claims Deeds to Land
Gained by Fraud

Sale of four canning companies in New Holland, Ashville, Jeffersonville and Chrisman, Ill. by Crites, Inc. was restrained upon order of Judge J. W. Adkins today after Mrs. May R. Crites, wife of H. M. Crites, St. Louis, filed action in common pleas court. Defendants in the action at Crites, Inc., the Continental Canning Co., the Huntington National Bank, Columbus, and the First National Bank of St. Louis.

The canning companies were offered for sale in a Columbus newspaper last week.

Mrs. Crites brought suit through her attorneys, Richard Sinkins and Smith W. Bennett, in which she alleges Crites, Inc., is not a firm doing business but was formed by the Continental Canning Co., the Huntington Bank, and the First National, creditors of Mr. Crites, for their mutual advantage.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY
In her petition which follows one filed quite a while ago in federal court, Mrs. Crites asks that conveyances of land deeded by her to the three firms be set aside and that an accounting of damages be made. She charges the three firms with conspiracy and collusion in forcing her to deed over property under threat of arrest.

The lengthy petition asserts that Crites, Inc. sold lands and elevators which had been deeded over for less than their actual value.

She lists dower rights to which she claims she is entitled at $100,000.

The federal court suit was filed in an effort to determine jurisdiction for the proceeding.

NRA ACTION IN SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The first direct test of the right of the federal government, through NRA codes, to regulate wages and hours of labor, reached the Supreme court today.

The record in the case in which the government is appealing from a decision of Federal Judge Grubb, of Birmingham, Ala., holding the Recovery act and the lumber code unconstitutional, was received by the court.

The department of justice will make its formal motion for review early in January.

The case arose when William Elbert Belcher was charged with violating NRA and the lumber code by working men more than 40 hours a week and failing to pay prescribed wages.

His death was a distinct shock to his friends in banking and business circles, few persons having ever known he was ill.

"Hallelujah, I'm A Bum," Used As Funeral Requiem

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—His requiem having been "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," sung by a chorus of self-appointed bartenders and mourners, Harry Batter went to his final resting place today at Waldheim cemetery.

At his dying request the bizarre funeral ceremony was held in a chapel over the remains of Batter, long-haired radical, hobo and soap box orator. One of Batter's insurance policies paid for the celebration.

Glasses and bottles clinked about the casket and the "mourners" cheered to the shouted toast last night of: "Here's to Batter, dead or alive."

Dr. Ben Reitman, president of the Chicago Hobo college, acted as master of ceremonies. Volunteer bartenders administered to the noisy shouts of the thirsty.

Somewhat suggested reading the "Hobo's Prayer," but instead the assemblage toasted Batter as "a sponger, and a good for nothing devil, but good at heart."

5 CONVICTED OF ASSAULT

McArthur Jury Finds Men
Who Attacked Truck Driver Guilty.

McARTHUR, Dec. 19.—After four hours of deliberation, a jury of 11 men and one woman today had convicted seven members of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union on charges of attempting to main and kill George Hensel, truck driver for the Godman Shoe Co. of Columbus and Lancaster, during a strike of employees at the two plants last summer.

The convicted men were Otto Corson, Charles Fleming, Bernard Ebbrecht, Doyle Schaffer, Claude Muck, and Ross Siler, all of Lancaster, and Harold Eastman of Columbus.

Sentence was withheld by Judge W. J. Jones pending hearing on a motion for a new trial Jan. 3.

Hensel was struck by a stone hurled through the windshield of the truck he was driving as he passed a side road near the Vin-ton-Hocking-co line. Hensel was on his way to the Logan plant of the shoe company with a load of supplies when the truck was stoned. He was in critical condition for several weeks following the attack.

Lehman was convicted in 1917 for killing James Wilson, during an argument and Steele was sent to prison for slaying Fletcher Collins. Both prisoners, until their release, had been at the London prison farm.

Si Dunkle, secretary to the governor, explained, however, that the release of the men did not comprise the formal "Christmas pardons" of the governor, which are made yearly. Announcement of the actual Christmas pardons will be made Saturday, Dunkle said.

JAPS DISCARD NAVY TREATY; U. S. ANGERED

Action Considered Blow to Continued Arms Reduction

IS NOT SURPRISE

Naval Race Now Seen As Certainty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—By deciding to carry out its threat to denounce the Washington naval treaty despite last minute Anglo-American appeals, Japan has delivered the greatest blow ever dealt the cause of naval disarmament.

Such was the view held in authoritative quarters here today following receipt of word from Tokyo that the Japanese privy council had approved denunciation of the treaty.

Officials recalled the recent warning of American Ambassador Norman H. Davis at London that denunciation of the treaty by Japan would open the way for unrestricted naval competition among the world powers, create international suspicion and threaten the future peace of the world.

UNDO BENEFITS

Although Japan's action did not come as a surprise, fresh dissatisfaction nevertheless was manifested by officials, who deplored the fact that the privy council had been led by the militarists to take a step regarded here as threatening to undo all the accomplishments reached at the Washington conference in 1922.

Limiting the size and number of battleships and aircraft carriers and establishing the now famous 5-5-3 ratio—that is, five ships for the United States and Great Britain to three for Japan, the treaty is held by this government to be the most forward step ever taken in the cause of naval disarmament.

CROPS SMALLEST IN MANY YEARS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Due chiefly to the drought, and to measures taken to control production, the acreage in crops harvested this year, estimated at 285,603,000 acres, excluding fruits, was 40,500,000 acres below last year, and probably the lowest total acreage harvested in more than 30 years, the crop reporting board had said today.

The estimates for some of the crops are so unusual it is difficult to make comparisons, it said. The total corn crop as harvested for all purposes was estimated at 1,381,000,000, the smallest since 1881.

Nevertheless the corn crop was valued approximately at $165,000,000 more than last year's crop.

LABOR LEADER DEAD

CLEVELAND, Dec. 19.—Thomas S. Farrell, 55, secretary of the Cleveland Federation of Labor, died suddenly at his Shaker Heights home here today.

State Liquor Business Now Near Six Millions

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—The $6,000,000 net business predicted for the state liquor department in its first calendar year of operation today appeared almost a certainty as department officials watched the holiday season boom the liquor trade throughout the state.

J. B. Taylor, professor at Ohio State University and technical adviser to the accounting division of the liquor department, estimated on the basis of steadily rising sales that by Jan. 1 the records would show the following profits:

$1,700,000 in dollar gallage taxes paid to the state treasury;
$1,700,000 in liquor store profits, kept in the rotating liquor department fund for liquor purchase;
$2,600,000 in permit fees, which were returned to the communities

HUNT BEACH FOR WOMAN

Wife of Wealthy Chicago
Manufacturer Missing; May Be Drowned.

CARMEL, Cal., Dec. 19.—Barefoot prints on an isolated beach here were believed by searching parties today to indicate that Mrs. Eliot Bokke Schaffner, wife of a wealthy Chicago clothing manufacturer, had met her death in the ocean surf.

Mrs. Schaffner disappeared from her Carmel home early yesterday morning.

She had been ill and under the care of a nurse. Servants said she had appeared "depressed and tired."

She was dressed only in a fur coat over her night clothing, and a pair of bedroom slippers, when she vanished.

Searching parties that combed the rugged hills of the Carmel peninsula throughout the night came upon prints of bare feet leading to and from the ocean, on an unfrequented beach.

MAY BE SUICIDE
Chief of Police Gus Englund said he believed Mrs. Schaffner had walked to her death in the ocean. He has not, however, (Continued On Page Two)

DEFENSE PLAN OF KENNAMER IS DISCLOSED

Lawyers to Claim He Was Attempting to Balk Extortion Plot.

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 19.—His asserted plan to halt a fantastic extortion plot will be the main defense hope when Philip Kennamer, 19, son of a federal judge, is brought to trial late next month for the murder of John F. Gorrell Jr.

This was indicated today by Attorney A. Flint Moss, chief of defense counsel. Meanwhile J.ERRY KING, attorney general of Oklahoma, was preparing the evidence on which the state is expected to ask the death penalty for Kennamer. King, whose term of office expires Jan. 14, will act as special prosecutor.

Nine days before the sensational Thanksgiving night murder, Kennamer made threats against the young dental student, according to evidence presented at the preliminary hearing at which the youth was bound over to the county district court for trial.

BALKING ABDUCTION
These threats, however, were made while Kennamer was planning to balk an extortion plot which the Judge's son contends Gorrell was about to carry through against Homer Wilcox, wealthy Tulsa oil man. An extortion letter already had been written, but Kennamer said he refused to mail it. Gorrell had planned to kidnap Wilcox's young daughter, Virginia, using an airplane to carry her away.

Kennamer's sole motive in entering the plot was to save the Wilcox girl, of whom he was an admirer, from harm, according to the defense contention.

Attorney General King today said investigation had convinced him that Sidney Born Jr., found fatally wounded Dec. 9, was not murdered because of knowledge of the asserted extortion plot, but had committed suicide. Born drove Kennamer to an appointed meeting with Gorrell the night of the murder.

Young Born, it was intimated, took his life because he feared that Kennamer was about to disclose details of a hotel party which the two youths were said to have indulged in the night before Gorrell was fatally shot.

WOMEN SLAIN, HUNT MANIAC IN NEW YORK

Robbery Discarded as Motive As Valuables, Money Is Undisturbed.

BATH, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Fears were growing today that perhaps a maniac killer is at large in the historic hills of Steuben-co, N. Y. Twice within 10 days the authorities here have found themselves with the gruesome death of a wealthy widow on their hands.

Her skull fractured in several places, Mrs. George H. Parker, 72, was found dead in her ancestral mansion 36 hours ago.

On December 8, Mrs. Winnie M. Burlingame, 69, wealthy resident of Canisteo, 12 miles from here, was found dead in her home her head hacked in 40 places.

Thus far no tangible explanation for the death of either woman has been offered.

ROBBERY NOT MOTIVE

Although both widows were wealthy, robbery was not the motive for the slaying in either case. In both instances, valuables were left undisturbed.

The similarity of the slayings does not end here. Both women lived alone. Both bodies were found in living rooms and both women were covered with newspapers.

State police announced last night that a former roomer at the Parker home had been picked up by Buffalo police and was being brought back here for questioning. According to information reaching here, however, the boarder has an iron-clad alibi.

Joe Ormsby, son of a former police chief, talked on the telephone with Mrs. Parker a short time before the body was found. He said she interrupted the telephone conversation with the statement that she thought she heard "somebody at the door."

Ormsby went to the Parker house a short time later and discovered the body.

It is therefore no wonder, officials said, that this government views with no little dissatisfaction Japan's intention to scrap it.

Simple Servings and Settings That Express the Holiday Spirit

An attractive center piece that expresses the season's cheer, will add to the holiday spirit of a Christmas table set with the family's best linen, silver and china. Don't you like the table set with tiny trees, perfectly plain excepting for the candles that gleam in rows around the foot of each tree? The bright glow of the candles gives a lovely light, and makes us hope for a dark day or a late dinner.

A flat center decoration is achieved with sprays of holly artistically laid through the center of the table, with candelabra at both ends to give height to the setting. Highly effective are the stunning settings done with the ever symbolic white, and emphasized with dark, shiny green leaves and tiny bows of red ribbon, red buds or berries to accent the simplicity of the whiteness.

Dishes for Christmas tables need not necessarily be the elaborate servings we sometimes think make up a holiday feast. Simple dishes, served in the true spirit of hospitality, may be as welcome as the more complicated preparations.

A plum pudding that is not steamed, but that is made with gelatin, does not require cooking. It is recommended for a large serving.

Uncooked Plum Pudding
1 pkg. lemon gelatin
2 C. boiling water
1/2 C. grapefruit
1/2 C. walnut meats
1 C. cooked prunes shredded
12 C. citron
12 C. cinnamon
12 C. cloves
Pinch of salt

Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water. Stir in the other ingredients while hot. Harden. Serve with or without whipped cream.

Favorites for holiday eating always include fancy cookies. Here is a recipe for a cookie that has a particular appeal to youngsters.

Bran Sticks
1 C. sugar
1/2 C. shortening
1 unbroken egg
1/2 C. flour
1 C. chopped walnuts
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 C. bran
1 tsp. vanilla ext.
1/2 C. chopped walnuts

Melt the sugar with the shortening. Cool until lukewarm. Add the unbroken egg, and beat mixture well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt, and fold it into the sugar mixture. Then fold in bran, nuts and vanilla. Spread in a shallow pan lined with greased paper. Bake 20 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees). While still hot, cut into strips.

Something New for Stuffed Tomatoes
Serve these stuffed tomatoes with roast chicken—they are delicious!
1 can devilled ham (or 11 cup)
4 tomatoes
1/2 C. chopped mushrooms
1 1/2 C. bread crumbs
1 Tbsp. diced onion
2 Tbsp. butter

Brown onion, mushrooms and bread crumbs in butter, and add ham. Cut tops off tomatoes. Add edible parts of top to the above mixture. Heat. Make a mound of ham in tops of tomatoes and bake. Garnish with parsley sprigs. Bake for 15 minutes at 375 degrees. Four servings.

December D.A.R. Meeting Well Attended; Mrs. Blosser Speaker

Despite holiday preparations quite a number of members of the Pickaway Plains chapter Daughters of the American Revolution were in attendance for the chapter's December meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Mack, S. Washington-st.

Members assisting Mrs. Mack in entertaining were Mrs. Glenn I. Nickerson, Mrs. H. M. Crites, Mrs. Harley Colwell, Mrs. Ned Bell and Mrs. Thomas Sweeney.

Mrs. Peter J. Blosser and Miss Edna McKenzie of Nathaniel Massie chapter at Chillicothe and Mrs. Arthur Dunlap of Mt. Sterling chapter were guests at the session.

Mrs. Harry J. Dunlap, regent, read Christmas messages from Mrs. Asa Messenger, state regent, and Mrs. Russell W. Magna, president general.

Mrs. C. C. Watts, chaplain, offered prayer and following the opening exercises, Mrs. Charles Gerhardt gave the recording secretary's report. Mrs. William Mack gave her financial report as treasurer also one on work done to sponsor better films in the movies.

The chapter voted to recommend the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals, and plans were begin for a card party to be held Jan. 24 when neighboring D. A. R. chapters will be invited.

Christmas music was featured in the program. Mrs. Clark K. Hunsicker and Mrs. James Moffitt sang a duet, "I've Waited for the Lord." Miss Abbe M. Clarke accompanied during the rendition of this number and also for the Christmas carols sung. Mrs. Hunsicker was chairman of the music for the day.

Mrs. Peter J. Blosser, the speaker, chose as her subject "Old Ross-co." The early days of Ross-co. when mound builders were the earliest dwellers in the fertile Scioto Valley, followed by later years when the Indian tribes inhabited these same places were first described. Westfall and Old Town or Frankfort were old settlements in that territory. In 1764 an expedition was made to that part of the country. Daniel Boone in 1778 and Boone and Kenton in 1787 made trips into Ohio attacking Old Town. They are supposed to have camped one night in Bainbridge Caves.

Nathaniel Massie in 1795 started with three companies for the Scioto Valley. In 1796 on April 1 he supervised the building of cabins and the planting of three hundred acres laying out Chillicothe, which name means town. Other surrounding towns were also formed.

Mrs. Blosser told of the early political history surrounding Chillicothe when St. Clair, Edward Tiffin, Duncan McArthur and William Allan were important statesmen. Tiffin was governor when Ohio in 1803 became a state. Chillicothe as the first capital of Ohio, has furnished the scenery for the seal, and many early pioneers who played a prominent part in history.

Just Among Us Girls

Mrs. Blosser's address was inspired by her intense interest in all pertaining to her native community. In conclusion she mentioned Ross-co's part in Ohio's militia. There are one hundred and fifty graves of soldiers of 1812 and many revolutionary soldiers graves in that region. Camps have been located near Chillicothe in the following wars—1812, Civil, Spanish and World War.

Chillicothe was the birthplace of Lucy Webb Hayes, the wife of one of our nation's presidents and still boasts of citizens of national and international fame.

Members of the chapter were delighted with this historical narrative so pleasingly delivered by Mrs. Blosser.

Refreshments carrying out the colors of the season were then served.

A basket was filled to overflowing proportions with gifts which will be distributed to the needy in the city under Miss Charlotte Phelps' supervision.

RETAIL SALES TAX DIVISION TO BE LARGE

Could Become Patronage Machine; Dargusch Is Guiding Figure.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Capital observers are in amazement at the new retail sales tax, a veiled opportunity for the state tax commission to become one of the most powerful patronage divisions of state government.

Prior to the advent of the sales levy there were 400 employees on the tax commission payroll. Carlton S. Dargusch, the tax commission's vice chairman and guiding spirit, estimated his division would require 200 additional employees immediately.

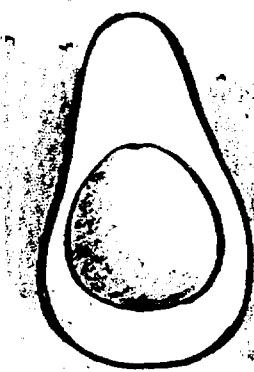

It has been found that when a department head says 200 employees will be needed the number actually employed seldom falls below 300. If the rule holds true in this case, there soon will be 700 names on the tax commission payroll.

WOULD RANK HIGH
Such an increase would rank this branch of government almost in the class with the two most prolific patronage dispensers, the state highway department, with some 5,000 employees, and the state liquor monopoly, with about 1,000. Ranking officials of the tax commission is the director of finance, now Clarence Burk who will give way to Judge Howard L. Bevis when Gov-elect Martin L. Davey takes office on Jan. 14. But the connection between the

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

HUEY LONG ACTION
An old custom of the south, that of placing a hempen string around one's neck and tossing the other end over a tree, could be put to a splendid advantage today, it seems. The Honorable Huey Long, who would try to rule the world if the north didn't have something to say about it, has succeeded in ousting Coach Biff Jones of the Louisiana state college team.

MEDDLING ALL YEAR
Long has been meddling in LSU athletics all season. He first put the team into a spotlight by handing out money to all who wanted to make the trip to Nashville to the Vanderbilt game. He has collected about all of that back.

OUSTED EDITORS
He next aroused the ire of most of the students of the school by attempting to put Abe Mickal, star halfback and not even a resident of Louisiana, in the state senate. He actually had him elected, but Mickal snubbed the honorable senator by failing to appear. The campus publication, The Reveille, then took up the battle to end Long's attempt to dominate athletics and everything else in his state. As a result editors of The Reveille were ousted and later suspended from school.

REFUSED PEP TALK
Now comes the crowning act of of them all, the squabble which ended in Coach Jones' resignation. It all happened last Saturday when Oregon was beating Louisiana 13-0 in the first half. Long, on the LSU bench where he had no right to be, criticized Jones' methods in no uncertain terms with a result that Jones refused to let him give the team a pep talk between halves. Jones himself talked to the players and the result was a 14-13 victory. Announcement of the coach's resignation should show the Kingfish, who is the biggest pain in the neck we know of, that it is about time for him to quit trying to be the boss.

YOUNG PRO LEADS PASADENA GOLFERS

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 19.—Willard Hutchison, slender young professional of Santa Barbara, today flashed into the picture in final practice for the Pasadena $1,000 open golf tournament, which starts tomorrow, when he shot a brilliant 67, four strokes under par, and the finest practice round yet recorded.

Willard, always a great shot maker, was playing with Frank Smith of Oak Park, just in from Florida. Sanchez, Dan of Los Angeles, and Eddie Lutz of Chicago. He scored seven birdies and from first to last was very much on his game.

Not far behind Hutchison in yesterday's practice was smiling Jimmy Hines of New York with a 69, and Benny Colton of San Francisco, and Harold McSpeden of Kansas City, both with 70's.

FOUR RETURN TO O. S. U. CLASSES

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—Ohio State's representatives objected to the R. G. T. A. plan has returned to Ohio State university, with one of the students in the team he fourth. The team there have been determined physically unable to participate.

BEAR STORIES COMING FROM YOUNG'S CAMP

Team To Lack Polish, Forward Has Twisted Ankle, Chillicothe Coach Says.

Coach Earl Young of Chillicothe is producing his annual early season "poor basketball team" dope. Remember last year Mr. Young, who is a splendid coach, spread through the papers of his home town that his team would amount to nothing better than oil. It developed that Chillicothe had a pretty good team.

Young is not quite so pessimistic this year as heretofore but does say that his team which he hopes to be a winner "will lack polish." Jack Higley has a twisted ankle; he's a forward. He is expected to play against the Tigers however. The team travels to the Rosscoe tent Friday evening and has a good chance to come through.

TEAM IS LISTED
At the other forward with Higley will be Graves, a co-captain. The center will be Jack Cox and at the guards, Jim Strausbaugh and Johnny Knight, co-captain.

A scrimmage was held this afternoon with the student body on hand. The local reserves as yet unbeat will meet Chillicothe's outfit at 7 o'clock with the varsity game to start at 8:15.

Fritz Mackey, Ohio Wesleyan football coach, will officiate.

BEARCATS WIN

CINCINNATI, Dec. 19.—The Bearcats of the University of Cincinnati, preparing to battle for the Buckeye Conference basketball championship, today marked up a 49-18 score after their unexpected rout of Dayton last night.

Displaying unlooked-for power, the Bearcats' fast-breaking offense proved too much for the invading Flyers from the very start of the game. Reserve strength also counted heavily in the Bearcats' win. Coach Tay Brown using his entire roster of 13 men.

After an effort by Senator Huey Long to assist in the coaching of the Louisiana State football team during a game with Oregon, Coach Lawrence (Biff) Jones, above, former Army mentor, ordered the senator out of the locker room and then resigned. Coach Jones had a "pop" talk Senator Long was starting to give the team.

EASTERN STARS PRACTICE TODAY

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 19.—The eastern all-star football team, numbering 22 players and including Captain Ross Monahan of the Ohio State University squad, gathered here today for a workout at the Dyche stadium before leaving tonight for San Francisco to meet the western stars in the annual New Year's Day charity game.

Co-coaches Dick Hanley and Andy Kerr recruited the eastern team for its trip to the Pacific coast. They will direct the squad in today's workout.

This year's team is made up of outstanding gridirers from 15 colleges and universities in the central states, east and south. Ten members of the squad are from seven western conference universities.

Capt. Monahan was the only player from the 1931 Buckeye squad. He was able to come here after arranging to take his final examinations earlier this week.

He will be at a guard position in the New Year's Day game and probably will be called upon to kick the field goals if he is needed. Monahan, from Lorain, O., distinguished himself on the gridiron this year by making 21 out of 25 possible points after touchdown by place kicks.

WEAK AND SKINNY MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Saved by new Vitamins of Cod Liver Oil in tasteless tablets.

Thousands of men, women and children are suffering from lack of vitamins. New scientific research has shown that cod liver oil is the best source of vitamins. It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 times of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 25 of our food decays in our 25 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (bad breath and we feel like a whipped tomato), don't use a mouthwash, or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which get to the source of the trouble. They loosen the bowels, get rid of the "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Deal For Joe De Maggio Is Closed; Rookie Must Regain His Strength.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The New York Yankees today completed the deal by which five of their players will go to the San Francisco club of the Pacific coast league in exchange for Joe DeMaggio, sensational young outfielder slated to report to the Yanks in 1936.

Pitchers Floyd Newkirk and Jimmy Doherty and infielder Eddie Farrell become the property of the Seals, while Outfielder Ted Neherst and Lee Powers, first baseman, go to Frisco under an optional agreement that will return them to New York next fall.

If DeMaggio recovers from a knee injury sustained last season, the Yanks will take him in 1936 after making a final cash payment, reported to be $50,000.

RICKEY SELLS BASEBALL STOCK

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 19.—Dividend checks amounting to the round sum of $100,000 were being distributed today to stockholders of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

At the stockholders' meeting a dividend of $10 a share on both common and preferred stock was voted. Sam Breadon, president, announced, for $75,000, week to Breascoe as majority stockholder.

Announcement was made of the sale of stock held by Branch Rickey, vice president, to C. H. Howard, Jr., of the Kansas City Blues football team. Rickey will remain with the Cardinals, Breadon said, adding:

"He didn't own much stock. I guess he merely was trying to clear up little business details before the first of the year."

WOMAN AWARDED $20,000 DAMAGES

MINEOLA, N. Y., Dec. 19.—Miss Betty Beuschel, former chambermaid, was awarded $20,000 today by a jury in her damage suit against Jacob Manowitz, wealthy Long Beach real estate operator whom she charged attacked her in 1931.

Miss Beuschel alleged Manowitz is the father of her daughter, now almost four years old. Neither Manowitz nor the plaintiff were in supreme court when the sealed verdict was opened. Manowitz denied the allegations, claiming that on the day of the alleged assault he was confined to his quarters with a swollen leg.

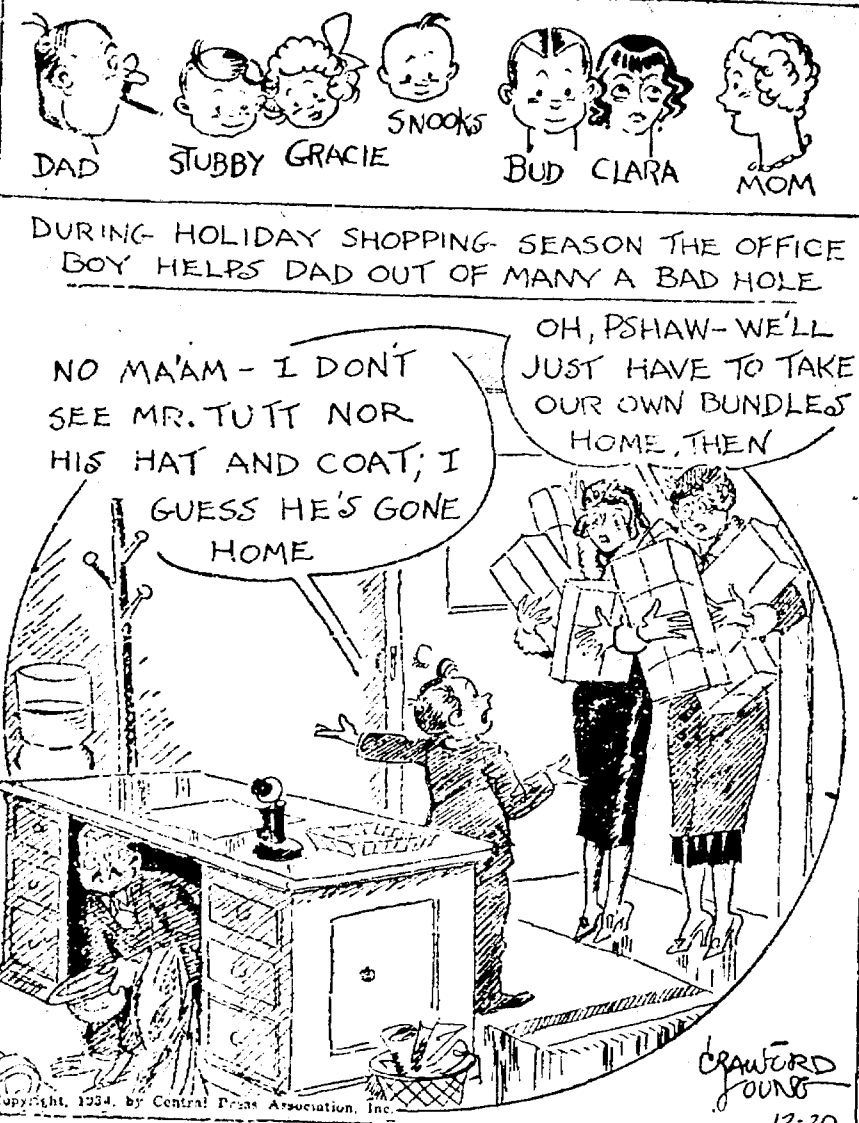

Manowitz has been paying for the support of Miss Beuschel's child under a court order which declared him the father.

HANG WOMAN FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

HULL, Eng., Dec. 19.—A black flag rose slowly over the somber walls of Hull prison at 9 o'clock this morning, and a small crowd of women outside the gates knelt in prayer.

The first woman to be executed in England since 1924 had been hanged.

She was Mrs. Ethel Lillie Major, 42-year-old grandmother, who was condemned for poisoning her truck-driver husband.

Led by the Lord Mayor of Hull, a fight for a reprieve that was carried direct to King George, and which was continued until the last minute, failed.

DENIED REPRIEVE

All night long Mrs. Major was hysterical, following final word that she would not be granted a reprieve.

This morning, 15 minutes before the time set for the hanging, the two prison chaplains, Canon Arthur Berry and the Rev. W. M. Fraser entered the death cell, where they prayed with the condemned woman until warders entered the cell to take her away.

The white-surplised Rev. Fraser, reciting prayers, led the procession the few steps from the death cell to the execution shed.

Quickly the trembling woman was strapped into a chair, the rope adjusted, and the trap sprung. Everything was over in a few seconds.

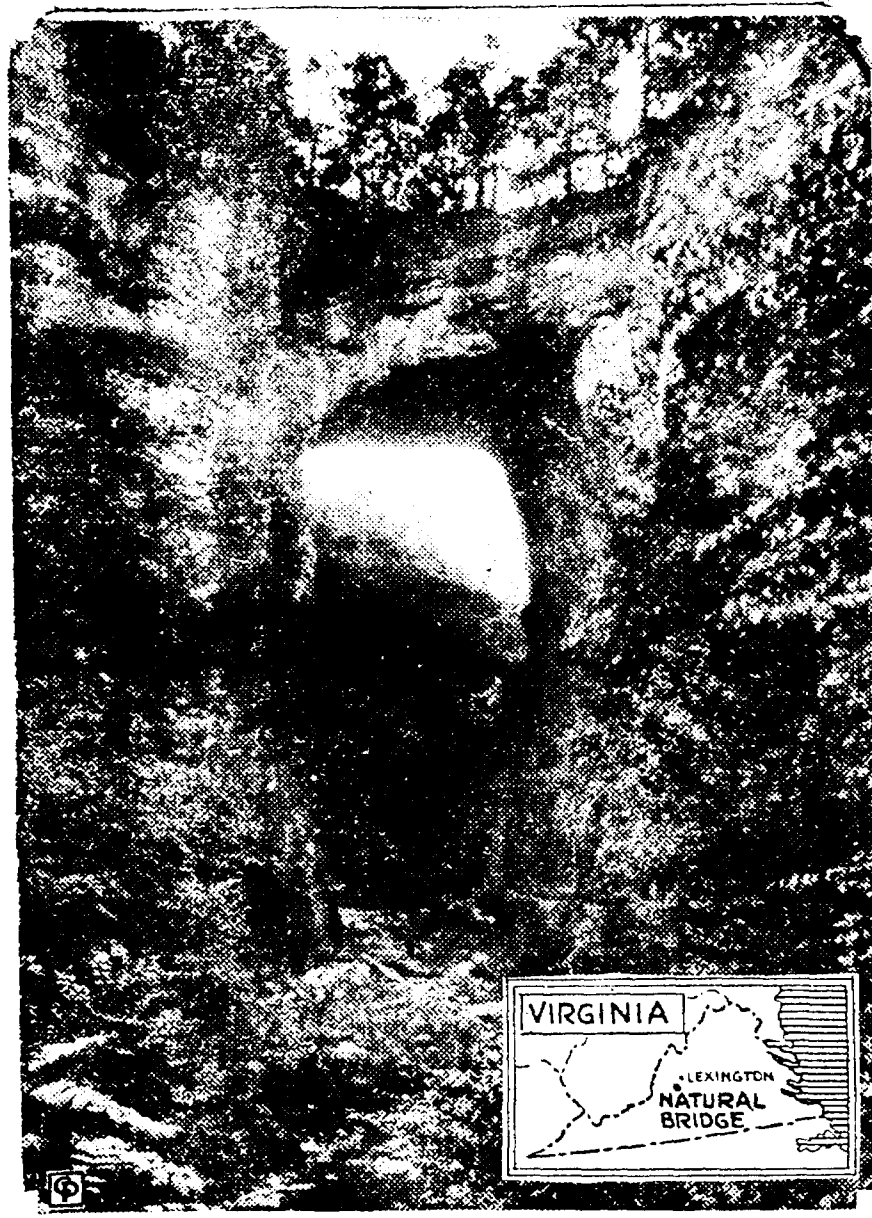

Extra police had been mobilized outside in the expectation that there might be demonstrations, but there were no incidents among the crowd of about 300. Only a handful of officials witnessed the execution.

Mrs. Major went to the scaffold in a semi-conscious condition but fully realizing what was happening. She required only the gentle guidance of winched behind her.

Her arms were bound and the trap was sprung. An inquest two hours later to determine whether the execution was "humane and expeditious" revealed death was caused by dislocation of a vertebrae in the neck.

KNOW YOUR WORLD

By Central Press. BEST KNOWN of a number of natural bridges is that in Rock-bridge-co, Virginia, 16 miles south-east of Lexington. The famous natural structure has a span of 90 feet, is 50 to 100 feet wide and 215 feet above the bed of a stream. A public road passes over it.

An explanation of the formation of the phenomenon is given by the geologist Cleland thus: "The tunnel was formed by water percolating through a joint or fissure athwart the stream, thence along a bedding plane and emptying under a fall or rapid of the stream. The channel thus formed was gradually enlarged until all the water of the stream was diverted from the bed below the point of ingress, leaving a bridge."

NRA EXECUTIVE TAKEN IN NIGHT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, social leader, philanthropist and chairman of the Consumers' Council of the NRA, will be held today at St. Thomas church. Burial will be at Arden, N. Y., tomorrow.

Mrs. Rumsey died during the night at a hospital from injuries received in a fall from a horse Nov. 17. She was riding to the Piedmont hounds at Middleburg, Va.

Although her injuries were considered serious from the beginning, hope for her recovery was held until a few days ago when she suffered a sudden relapse. Her three children have been at the bedside since the accident.

Among her closer friends were Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt and Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, with whom she lived in Washington. Both were constant visitors at the hospital.

Mrs. Rumsey was the daughter of the late E. H. Harriman, railway pioneer. She was associated in business with her father for many years. She spurned the leisure offered by great wealth and devoted herself to public service and private philanthropy.

OTTO'S DEFENSE MOTION SURPRISE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—A claim that the wrong indictment was drawn against City Auditor Walter E. Otto was the only defense offered today as the trial neared its close. Otto is charged with embezzlement.

The surprising action which was the only defense Otto's attorneys offered came at the conclusion of the state's case. Judge Henry L. Scarlett will rule on Otto's motion to dismiss charges.

COLUMBUS SEEKS 48-CENT CHARGE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19. Arguments were scheduled today before the public utilities commission in which the city will attempt to obtain a 48-cent gas rate from the Columbus Gas & Fuel Co. The utility is defending a 55-cent rate.

Caucus of House Democrats Delayed

COLUMBUS, Dec. 19.—The caucus of Democratic members of the next Ohio house of representatives once tentatively set for tomorrow, will not be held until later, Rep. J. Freer Bittinger, Ashland, the ranking Democrat, announced today.

He said the caucus might be called for Thursday or it might be delayed until a week from Thursday.
